The American Workplace: Blending Five Generations

The game has changed again but the goal is still the same – engaging a workforce toward success.

Join CNY ATD as we explore the lessons of blending five generations to bring success in the workforce.

In this session, you will learn:

- Attributes/traits that a group is likely to have in common
- How their experiences, as a generation shaped them
- What motivates/fuels them
- How they access information/communicate and expect to be treated
- What's their worldview – which is a combination of all the above items
